COMMANDANT'S COLUMN

Marines,
I wish to thank everyone who made it to the Birthday Ball. This year's Ball was one of the best we ever had. Junior Vice Commandant Paul Caprio did an outstanding job and the Detachment owes him a great deal of thanks. We had a number of people from the 1st and 3rd Marine Division Associations as well as quite a few members from All Divisions Detachment attend the Ball. The Commandant of All Divisions Ray Devlin said it was one of the finest Birthday Balls he had ever attended. For those of you who missed it, you missed a great one!!!

I hope that if the Detachment hosts a Birthday Ball next year, we have a much greater turnout from our own Detachment that we had this year. Only 11 members managed to attend this year. With the turnout from other groups, we had 72 people at the Ball. Since the Detachment hosts the affair, I think that to have only 11 members show their support by attending is pretty poor. I'm surprised that we can get almost 20 members to help clean up the highway, but only 11 members to come to the most prestigious event the Detachment holds all year!

Please don't forget to bring in some toys for the Commandant's Table at the December Meeting. These toys will be distributed to needy children by our members--with the remainder going to the "Toys-for-Tots" program. The toys you bring in should be new toys (unwrapped). The number of toys you bring in is entirely up to you. Don't worry about bringing too many. There are an awful lot of needy children in today's world who won't have anything for Christmas unless someone helps. The Marines have always been there to help when its needed and these kids need all of the help we can give. I would really like to see the table overflow this year. Please give as much as you can! Remember to take a few toys home with you if you know of a needy child in your neighborhood. That's what this is all about.

I have not yet heard any members come forward to volunteer their services as an officer next year. Don't forget that the elections are only a few months away and, so far, we have had no one express an interest in running for an office. If there are no interested members, the Detachment will be in trouble. A Detachment must have a Commandant, a Senior Vice Commandant, a Junior Vice Commandant, a Judge Advocate, an Adjutant, and a Paymaster to function. With no members stepping up and showing an interest, it will surely be an interesting election. Please give some consideration to getting off your duff and helping out in a way that is truly needed by the Detachment.

Semper Fi,

Budd France

LEATHERNECK GOES 'ON-LINE'

Leatherneck magazine has gone electronic.

The glossy monthly magazine, which published its first issue 81 years ago, now can be accessed on the Internet at the Marine Corps Association's new website: www.mca-marines.org The site is called "Fire Base Leatherneck." The magazine has a diverse readership of 92,000, from junior enlisted Marines to veterans and retirees.

The Quantico, VA-based Marine Corps Association publishes the magazine along with the Marine Corps Gazette, a monthly journal for officers and staff noncommissioned officers.

Both magazines are represented on the website, which include samplings of articles and highlights in current issues and association membership information. Entire issues aren't available to view on-line, however. Site visitors will find a link to MCA publications, where they can access the catalog and other services. Regular Leatherneck readers can submit their entries for the monthly cartoon caption contest through the site, too.

The Detachment is still looking for a volunteer to take over the advertising management duties for the newsletter. Anyone interested should contact Jr. Vice Paul Caprio at (215) 674-4111 to volunteer.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Marine Ray Krout reported he had attended a ceremony honoring veterans at the Bucks County Courthouse earlier in the day. He also reminded the membership that the VFW Post is holding its annual Turkey Dinner on Saturday, Nov. 14.

Commandant Budd Pearce reminded everyone to bring in toys for the "Commandant's Table" for the December Meeting. Toys will go to needy children in our area. Any left over toys will be donated to the "Toys-for-Tots" program.

Mess Sergeant Wil Haas spoke briefly about the Birthday Ball, thanking Junior Vice Caprio and his wife, Evelyn, for the tremendous job they did in preparing the Orion Club at NAS, Willow Grove, for the event. He stated he and his wife had a great time and that anyone who did not attend missed a really good time.

PR Officer Don Gee reported he now has the pre-WWII cartoon strips for "Sgt. Stony Craig" and would be putting them in the "Listen Up." He expressed appreciation to Marine Bill Plant, PC, for passing the strips and a wealth of other materials on to him and to Bonnie Jo Forster of Quakertown (daughter of Frank Rentfrow, who co-wrote the strip) who gave permission to use the cartoons.

SgtMaj. Horvath spoke briefly about the Young Marines program. Marine Scott Cole asked the Detachment for a couple of members to assist with the program. He stated he would prepare a "Training Calendar" for the Detachment so we could more easily schedule members to help out on weekend Young Marines sessions.

Sergeant-at-Arms Bob Sundling requested that members continue to bring in used books. Those which the Detachment does not sell will be donated to Marine Ted Wessel in Florida who sends them to Marines on deployment.

There being no further business, the meeting was closed until 1930 on December 9.

Marines Celebrate with a Quiet Protest

ARLINGTON, VA--Hundreds of former Marines--many crippled by old wounds, many coming from the far reaches of the country--celebrated the Marine Corps birthday in old fashion Nov. 10--they gathered at the Marine War Memorial for a protest.

It was a quiet protest, however. The veterans--encouraged by The Friends of Iwo Jima, a veterans group dedicated to preventing construction of an Air Force memorial near the Marine memorial--gathered in a show of solidarity against the Air Force's proposed construction.

"I always enjoy coming to this memorial," said Sen. Charles Robb, the Guest of Honor.

Robb, a retired Marine Lieutenant Colonel, earned a Bronze Star medal during the Vietnam War.

"The lure of the Corps and this monument is hard to resist," he said.

Gen. Charles C. Krulak, Commandant of the Marine Corps, was also on hand to lay the traditional wreath at the base of the memorial. He also introduced the speakers and greeted the veterans.

Neither Robb nor the other guest speaker, retired Air Force MajGen. Charles W.

Sweeney, mentioned the proposed Air Force memorial during their speeches.

Often referring to the memorial as "hallowed ground," Robb and Sweeney each spoke of the Marines who gave their lives in defense of the United States.

Sweeney, who commanded the Nagasaki bombing mission during World War II, thanked them for giving him a place to make an emergency landing after that fateful run.

"The only land that was around was Okinawa," Sweeney said. "If it hadn't been for taking that island...I would have been out in the ocean, swimming back still."

Robb spoke for the veterans in the audience when he described the meaning of the memorial.

"For us, this has become sacred ground," Robb said, drawing hearty cheers from the crowd.

"As long as we have a Marine Corps, as long as America remains the land of the free and the home of the brave, this memorial shall not be diminished."

He hinted that preserving the memorial's prominence is the least the country could do to show its appreciation to past and present Marines.

"They have never failed us and they never will," Robb said. "And we cannot fail them."
